To Charge Your Device

- Place the CX101 on a flat surface.
- Align your device's Qi wireless charging receiver with the CX101 Qi charging mark at the center of the charging pad.
  - Most Qi-enabled devices have a wireless charging logo indicating the exact position of the wireless charging receiver. Simply align this logo with the Qi logo in the center of the CX101.
  - If your device does not have a wireless charging logo, most likely the wireless receiver is located in the center of your device.
- Check to see if your device indicates that it is charging. This may take a few seconds.
- If the wireless charging logo on your device and the CX101 charging pad are not aligned properly, the charging speed will be lower than optimum, or there may be no charging at all. If you experience problems with wireless charging, simply re-align your device and the charging pad. If the problem continues, contact Alpatronix for troubleshooting.
